HSLIBNET CONSORTIUM

1. Background

Baba Farid University of Health Sciences, Faridkot (BFUHS: www.bfuhs.ac.in) was established in 1998 by the Government of Punjab to develop, direct and manage the higher education system in health sciences in the State of Punjab. 143 colleges in health sciences in the State come under the affiliation of BFUHS. A list of affiliated colleges is attached as (Annexure-I).

About HSLIBNET

HSLIBNET – the Resource Sharing Consortium for Learning Materials.

HSLIBNET is a networking concept. It stands for Health Sciences Library Network of Punjab State.

The University realizes that scholarly and professional information resources like journals and books are expensive and hence building a comprehensive collection at every college was unaffordable besides leading to undesirable duplication. The solution had to come from networking the libraries in all the colleges under the university and the consciously promoting a culture of co-operative procurement and resource sharing. HSLIBNET – Health Sciences Library Network is conceived as the consortium of all the teaching and research institutions affiliated to the university to pursue this need for networking and resource sharing.

The HSLIBNET consortia started in 2011 with the subscription of few online resources from primary publishers & aggregators. This initiative has added immense value to the way effective research is carried out at BFUHS and its affiliated colleges.

Areas of HSLIBNET:

- i. E-journal Consortium
- ii. Union catalogues
- iii. Digital Library of Health Sciences

e-TENDER NOTICE FOR e-journals and other e-resources for HSLIBNET (Health Sciences Library Network)

Objectives of HSLIBNET

To network all the libraries under BFUHS for minimizing the cost of acquisition and maintenance of learning resources and maximizing their utilization among the faculty, students and researchers in the colleges and institutions affiliated to the Baba Farid University of Health Sciences, Faridkot.

E-tenders are invited from the prospective bidders to study the e-tender document presented here and present their best possible offers for providing consortia access to e-resources, as per the terms of the e-tender.

HSLIBNET consortium is an ambitious project, which is aiming to build gradually a digital library culture and promote active usage of e-information resources. This is a very long-term goal. It is important for the bidders to understand and appreciate the ground realities of the needs and infrastructure availability for e-journal access in the colleges and present their offers with due consideration to these realities. The following observations should help the prospective bidders to understand the situation.

- (1) Scholarly journals in health sciences are required largely by colleges with post-graduate studies. Among 143 colleges, 49 colleges offer post graduate programs.
- (2) Medical colleges are the primary beneficiaries of the consortium. Among 143 colleges affiliated to BFUHS, there are 5 medical colleges. The average annual journal budget of these colleges is around US$ 5,000/-. The average number of foreign journals subscribed by these libraries is less than 50.
- (3) Dental colleges are the next best users in the consortium. There are 13 dental colleges. The average budget of these colleges is under US$ 10,000/-. The average number of foreign journals subscribed by these libraries is under 25.
- (4) Rests of the colleges have a very poor foreign journal base averaging at less than 5. Most of them do not subscribe to any foreign journals, as they do not have any need.
- (5) Internet access infrastructure is inadequate in majority of the colleges. Not more than 10 colleges currently have local IP server and leased lines for Internet access.
